

Greenville County Bird Club Spring Migration Count Report 2014

Date: Saturday, April 26, 2014

Location: Various locations in Greenville County, SC

Coordinator: Paul Serridge

25 GCBC members and 7 non-members participated in the 2014 Greenville County Spring Migration Count.

We covered 15 areas and listed 129 species and 5335 individual birds. The 129 species is an accurate number, and equals the previous record set in 2012. The 5335 figure is +/- an undetermined number but gives a good idea of the order of magnitude.

The 15 areas in no way covered the entire county and we missed out on data for several areas including Paris Mountain SP and Cedar Falls Park.

Click here for a Google Map showing locations covered during Greenville County migration counts.

Non-members actually led the counts in 4 sections. We owe them our gratitude. Three GCBC members led or participated in counts in more than one section. Thank you!

We benefitted from excellent birding weather all over the county – moderate temperatures, little to no wind, partly cloudy skies, and no rain.

Bird highlights

The following were new additions to the total Spring counts list:

Ring-necked Duck
Pectoral Sandpiper
Cerulean Warbler
Rusty Blackbird

The accompanying Excel spreadsheets show the details of this year's count by section and a recapitulation of all Spring counts since 2005.

2014 Count Details, Excel Format

2005-2014 Compiled Data, Excel Format

It was a good day to be out there counting!

Thanks again to all who participated.

Paul